

---

Robnett Legacy Society

---

HOWARD PAYNE UNIVERSITY

The Robnett Legacy Society, named in honor of Howard Payne University founder Dr. John D. Robnett, was established to recognize former students and friends of HPU who desire to make an investment in the future of quality Christian education. These investments may be in the form of a gift of cash, property, a trust or annuity, life insurance policies or other assets left to HPU through a person's will and can be made to the general operating budget of the university or designated for a specific program or project.

Members of the Robnett Legacy Society mean a great deal to the university. Their vision for HPU's future is being carried forward in an active way through their planned gifts to the university. Generous gifts from past alumni and friends have advanced the university by addressing physical needs, enlarging the university's endowment and supporting student scholarships. The thoughtful plans of individuals who join the Robnett Legacy Society will help ensure the work begun in 1889 by Dr. Robnett will continue to benefit HPU students for decades to come.